Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 63,65 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pietrzak et al (5,527,342) in view of Sohn (WO/97/47246).

With respect to claims 63,65, Pietrzak et al discloses a detachable tip (10) for a needle comprising a tip (12) having a sharp end and adapted for boring through bone, an extension (16) of the tip apposite of the sharp end and a substantially longer than the sharp tip, attached to a thread (50).

It is noted that Pietrzak et al did not teach of a flexible extension and a sharp end adapted for being grasped by a hollow needle, at a side of the sharp tip opposite of the extension or at a side of the extension; as claimed by applicant. However, in a similar art, Sohn evidences the use of a device with a flexible extension and a sharp end adapted for being grasped by a hollow needle, at a side of the sharp tip opposite of the extension or at a side of the extension to prevent cracking and chipping of bone.

Therefore, given the teaching of Sohn, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the device of Pietrzak et al., as taught by Sohn to prevent cracking and shipping of bone.

Response to Amendment

Applicant's arguments filed 05/06/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the motivation is found in the fact that both applications are related to suture anchors. The fact that one anchor is permanently left in the body is irrelevant.

Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references.

Applicant's arguments do not comply with 37 CFR 1.111(c) because they do not clearly point out the patentable novelty which he or she thinks the claims present in view of the state of the art disclosed by the references cited or the objections made. Further, they do not show how the amendments avoid such references or objections.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
